The Alien Is Among Us

What are the odds against an all instrumental record charting on the Cash Box Top Album Chart? One out of fifty or a hundred or five hundred perhaps? Before wagering, consider an all instrumental Rock album, not a New Age or fashionable contemporary Jazz LP. Rooock. And one more detail. Let's put this hypothetical disc on an independent label just to make things interesting. It'll never happen you say? At least not this decade?

Well guess again. In fact check out #31 on this week's Top Album Chart. After twelve weeks on the chart, the all-instrumental smash rock album Surfing With The Alien has risen steadily and with a bullet and shows no signs of slowing down. Guitar sensation Joe Satriani is the artist responsible for this latest effort for Relativity Records, and the accolades keep pouring in for the new six-string hero.

Just a few short years ago Satriani financed an album using his $8000 credit card limit. His career has come a long way since then, having released two records for Relativity and recently having returned from a stint in Japan as Mick Jagger's touring guitarist, a dream come true for Satriani. His dedication and unwavering commitment to his own unique music, with the support of Relativity, has enabled the sales of Surfing With The Alien to exceed 350,000 units in its first four months. Now on tour with his own powerful trio and booking extra shows to greet the overwhelming response, the high tide is just beginning to roll in for Joe Satriani.

Cash Box research from both radio and retail activity indicates the following record exhibits Top Ten potential.

Tommy Mottola Named President, CBS Records Division

NEW YORK – Tommy Mottola, founder and president of Champion Entertainment and a successful personal manager, was named president of the CBS Records Division April 25th. Mottola replaces Al Teller, who resigned the week before.

As president of the CBS Records Division, Mottola will have overall responsibility for the direction of the CBS Records labels in the United States – Columbia, Epic, Portrait, and the CBS Associated labels – including talent acquisition and development, business affairs, and all aspects of marketing.

"We are extremely fortunate to bring an executive of Tommy Mottola's experience and professionalism into the company," said Walter Yetnikoff, president and ceo of CBS Records Inc. "Tommy has always been known as a visionary, and as a hands-on manager – someone who gets personally involved in promotion, in sales, in repertoire. That attention to the basics of our business, and that vision, are just what CBS Records needs as we move into this new phase in our company's history."

Said Mottola: "This is the great challenge of my career, and I'm very grateful to Walter Yetnikoff for giving me this opportunity. CBS Records has a tradition like no other company in this industry. Working with all the talented people here, we can build on that tradition to make the best even better."

According to Mottola, Champion Entertainment, and its artist roster, will continue intact "run by the people who have worked with me for the last 10 years." A new company head will be named shortly.

Tommy Mottola founded Champion Entertainment in 1974, after six years as the head of Chappell Music's Contemporary Music Division. He began his career as a professional musician. In the past 14 years, he has managed Daryl Hall and John Oates, John Cougar Mellancamp, Carly Simon, and others. He had recently moved into films, working as music supervisor on Ruthless People and The Secret of My Success, as well as two movies of the week for ABC television and numerous cable music specials. He is currently producing the forthcoming film Stolen Flower, directed by and starring Robert DeNiro, for Universal Pictures.

Greenberg To Resign From Atco

LOS ANGELES – Jerry Greenberg, President of Atco Records & Custom Labels, has announced his resignation from the company, effective June 1, 1988. He will disclose his future plans shortly. Atco will retain its recently-established presence in California as well as it's long-standing New York office.

Commenting on Greenberg's announcement, Atlantic Chairman Ahmet Ertegun said: "Jerry is a long-time friend, and he is one of the most talented and respected people in the music business. We are parting on the most amicable terms, and I wish him all the best in his future endeavors."

Jerry Greenberg has been President of Atco Records & Custom Labels since the beginning of the year. He originally joined Atlantic Records in 1967, serving in several positions before being named President in 1974. In 1980 Greenberg founded the Atlantic-distributed Mirage Records label. He became President of United Artists Records in 1986 and was subsequently named President of the Music Division of MGM/UA.

Alpert Donates $2.5 Million To USC

LOS ANGELES – Musician Herb Alpert and his wife, Lani, have donated $2.5 million to the School of Music at the University of Southern California to fund the construction of a new performing-arts auditorium. The concert hall will be part of a major new music facility at the University Park campus.

The gift was announced by USC President James H. Zumberge. It is the largest single contribution in the history of the music school.

"The Herb Alpert Concert Hall will be a first-rate performance space in a building dedicated to music teaching, practice and rehearsal," Zumberge said. He added that the gift will support one of the primary aims of an extensive fund-raising campaign at the University, "the creation of a campus environment where students, faculty and guest artists can achieve their highest performance goals."

HORN OF PLENTY – Trumpeter/record exec Herb Alpert (left) and Larry Livingston, Dean of the USC School of Music, examine architectural plans for the concert hall that will be built at the school with Alpert's recent donation of $2.5 million.

The 700-seat auditorium will anchor a three story, 40,000-square-foot building that will also contain practice rooms, classrooms, teaching studios and staff areas. The completed building is projected to cost $11 million.

Alpert, a USC alumnus, founded A&M Records in 1962 with partner

Cab Calloway Honored at ASCAP Black Music Celebration

By Joe Levy

NEW YORK – Cab Calloway was the recipient of the first ASCAP "Duke" Award, named for Duke Ellington, at last week's ASCAP Black Music Celebration, which honored the writers and publishers of the 74 ASCAP songs that reached the Top Ten on the black music charts in 1987. Ellington's granddaughter, Merecedes Ellington, presented the award to an ebulliant Calloway, who joked that he had been mistaken for Duke Ellington at least "9 million times," and led the crowd in the chorus to his hit "Minnie The Moocher."

Openning the presentation of three special awards, ASCAP president Morton Gould remarked, "Black music is the sound of America, and it's the soul of America." The festivities were held at Manhattan club Stringfellows, on Monday, April 25.

Two other special awards were presented during the course of the event. The ASCAP Founder's Award went to Motown Industries for "[illegible] tributions which have been sustaining influence on America[illegible] music. Actor Billy Dee Williams presented the award to Lester Sill, ASCAP board member and pre[illegible] Motown's music publishing company, Jobete Music, who accepted on behalf of Berry Gordy, Jr. Additionally, Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis of Flyte Tyme Productions received special awards as the writers of the greatest number of Top Ten hits on the black charts.

Among the stars who attended the packed celebration were John Kemp, Nona Hendryx, Freddie Jackson, and The System. Before the presentations were made, guests enjoyed an hour of cocktails while video clips of the 74 songs honored were played.

Unit Shipments Of Recorded Music Reach Highest Level In A Decade

NEW YORK – The dollar volume of U.S. manufacturers' net shipments of prerecorded discs and tapes increased 20 percent in 1987, rising 14.3 percent to the highest level since 1978, according to the RIAA. Shipments in 1987 were valued at $5.57 billion, calculated at suggested list price, compared to $4.65 billion in 1986. Unit shipments rose from 618.3 million in 1986 to 706.8 million in 1987, falling just short of 1978's all-time high of 726 million. Continuing trend, CDs showed dramatic growth, with a 93 percent increase in unit shipments from 1986 and a 71.3 percent increase in dollar volume. Cassettes gained – with shipments rising 19 percent and dollars rising 18.4 percent – and the lowly LP continued to plummet, dropping 15 percent in unit shipments and 19 percent in dollar sales. All told, 410 million cassettes were shipped in 1987, 107 million LPs were shipped, and, closing in fast, 102.1 million CDs were shipped.

THINGS THAT GO BUMP IN THE NIGHT – Recently, near disaster struck Warner Bros. Records album release party for Louise Goffin's label debut, This Is The Place, at L.A.'s oh-so-chic and spacious Flaming Colossus. It appeared that everyone counted on having a good time... what no one counted on was a power outage that spanned across several city blocks.

The power went out approximately a half-hour after the party began, yet the capacity crowd decided to stick it out and shmooze by candlelight. The stage set up in the club for Goffin to perform several of the LP's tunes seemed destined to go unused.

The crowd stood inquisitive when Goffin, accompanied by a couple of her musicians, sauntered out to the middle of the ballroom's floor and belted out a powerful a capella rendition of the album's current single "Bridge Of Sighs" followed by an audience sing-a-long of the Creedence classic "Have You Ever Seen The Rain." Much later that evening (and to the apparent disappointment of many), the power returned - the intimacy of the gathering resumed, however, when Goffin and her band performed a powerhouse electric set for the enthusiastic crowd.

In the end, what could have proved a major fiasco turned out to be one of the most entertaining and enjoyable industry gatherings in recent memory.

Reportedly, several celebs were in attendance - but it was too dark to identify any of them. Sure, there were rumored names, but who am I to spread rumors and innuendo... (okay, maybe I am one to spread rumors and innuendo - but not this week).

TIMBUK 3 OPT FOR 6 – In an unconventional move, I.R.S. Records recording artists Timbuk 3 have recently issued not one but six videoclips to coincide with their latest LP, Eden Alley. ATLANTIC NEWS – Recently, Kathy Acquaviva, Atlantic Records' Associate Director of Media Relations, called Points West to let us in on some hip, hot 'n' happenin' label news. Whew...

Rodney Crowell

RODNEY CROWELL – Last week, Columbia Records released Diamonds And Dirt, the new album from former Los Angeleno Rodney Crowell... and it's a stunner! Aside from his recent Top 5 Country smash duet with wife Rosanne Cash on "It's Such A Small World," the album boasts a batch of kickin' tunes ("Still Crazy For Leavin'," "Crazy Baby,") coupled with some amazingly powerful ballads ("After All This Time," "I Didn't Know I Could Lose You"). Crowell either wrote or co-wrote nine of the LP's ten tracks - several of which should find strong crossover activity. It should be noted that Crowell is not just simply riding the "New Traditionalists" bandwagon, he was one of the forefathers. Check it out...

COVER STORY

Sade

By Tom De Savia

LOS ANGELES – Her compelling musical talent has been justifiably compared to such legendary performers as Billie Holiday and Nina Simone. Her radiant beauty and sophistication has resulted in her becoming an instantly recognizable media celebrity. Her music has crossed over any preconceived boundaries, resulting amazing crossover success at nearly all formats. She is Sade, an artist who in four short years has tenably earned the title of international "superstar."

In 1984, The Nigerian-born songstress (born Helen Folasade Adu), made an unprecedented burst upon the scene with her auspicious debut LP Diamond Life; the LP went on to achieve multi-platinum sales status and garner the artist a 1985 Grammy Award for "Best New Artist." The album also sported three singles which inundated the charts: "Smooth Operator," "Hang On To Your Love" and "Your Love Is King." Radio airplay resulted at a variety of formats creating astounding crossover success: from pop to jazz, urban to A/C, etc.

The following year, 1985, Sade released Promise. Although the album did not have sport as many hit singles as its predecessor, it went on to outsell the first LP by a margin of two to one, culminating in worldwide sales in excess of four-and-a-half million units. That same year, Sade and her band undertook their very first world tour. The shows proved not only a success at the box office, but received unanimous critical praise as well. Since 1985, however, Sade has been conspicuously absent from both the recording and touring scene.

Now, three years after the release of Promise, Epic is gearing up to release Stronger Than Pride. The album, the artist's first for Epic (the previous LPs were released on the Epic-distributed Portrait label, which is now devoted to jazz, cabaret, soundtracks and other eclectic type releases), should find instant out-of-the-box acceptance at both radio and retail. "Paradise" has been chosen as the album's first U.S. single, while "Love Is Stronger Than Pride" will surface overseas.

Stronger Than Pride was entirely produced and arranged by Sade; all of the songs contained on the LP were a collaborative effort between the artist and bandmates Stuart Mathewman, Andrew Hale and Paul Denman.

Undoubtedly the new LP will follow in the amazing president set by both Diamond Life and Promise, and considering the artist's track record should surpass any accomplishments she's since achieved. The mysterious, stylish talent that is Sade will continue to satisfy a universal audience for eons to come.

Les Paul: The Man, The Guitar, The Legend

By Lee Jeske

"If you can affect them on record, where they can't see you and you're not there – where they just drop the needle on the record and they start to cry, or they're very happy, whatever the message is – that's the secret to making a phonograph record. So if you ask me whether I'm entertaining the idea of making a record, I'm saying, yes I am. My whole thing now is to come up with something that is just so goddamned great."

The man knows from where he speaks. He's Les Paul, and to list his accomplishments here is to risk running out of magazine. He invented guitar echo, modernized the electric guitar, perfected multi-track recording, developed one of the most sought-after guitars of the century (the Gibson Les Paul), made four million-selling records with his wife Mary Ford during the pre-rock era ("Mockin' Bird Hill," "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," "How High the Moon," "Vaya Con Dios"), worked successfully as a jazz guitarist (he's been playing New York's Fat Tuesday's jazz club every Monday night for four years), and he's a member of the NARAS Hall of Fame and the Rock And Roll Hall of Fame, to name two recent honors. When the history of 20th Century popular music is written, Les Paul's name will be popping up in several sections.

One thing that Les Paul knows about is public taste; "You have to make some dumb thing that the public wants," he says shamelessly. He learned this lesson, he says, when he was an aspiring jazz guitarist in the '40s.

"I was with Fred Waring," he says, "and while I was with Fred Waring I was jamming every night with Art Tatum and Lester Young, Stuff Smith, Jo Jones, Buddy Rich, everybody you could dream of. And I lived up in Harlem with Lionel Hampton and all those guys, but when I went on the air to play with Fred Waring, I'd have to play commercial and play 'Amapola' and play 'Yours' and play 'Stardust,' whatever it was, but I

NEW FACES TO WATCH

Breathe

By Julius Robinson

LOS ANGELES – They hail from suburban London - four strapping, handsome kids with a surplus of talent: David Glasper, vocals; Marcus Lillington, guitar; Ian Spice, drums; and Michael (Mick) Delahunty, bass. Their debut LP on A&M is titled All That Jazz, and it is a blue-eyed soul/pop in the tradition of Wham. The record was produced by Chris Porter (Wham) and Bob Sargeant (English Beat).

Cash Box spoke to Breathe's lead-singer and writer David Glasper, first about his influences. "One of my biggest idols," says Glasper, "is Stevie Wonder. He's written several masterpieces. I love early Hall and Oates, The Eagles, Joni Mitchell - a lot of American music. I also like some English bands like Pink Floyd and Genesis."

Glasper co-writes with Marcus Lillington, who have been pals since grade school. "We sit around a piano and come up with chord changes and write the song on the spot. We all live in a flat together near London, and have a 16 track studio to do demos."

On the record, Glasper wrote the song "Jonah" which features a full horn section and Hammond organ. "The song is an analogy for deceit," says Glasper. "All That Jazz", is a song "about Hollywood."

"My favorite track on the album is 'Hands To Heaven'. It came about from a sound on the keyboard I happen to like. It's a story of unrequited love. Also melodically I'm very happy with it."

"Hands To Heaven" was released as a single in the U.S. and has enjoyed some success regionally for the band. "Going around to U.S. radio stations, we're getting a really good cross-section on the tune. We're getting a lot of people phoning in, requesting the record."

The current LP was two years in the making. "Don't Tell Me Lies" was released in 1986, but a polling error caused the tune to go off radio playlists. It forced the band to reassess their direction.

"At that time," says Glasper, "we never gave much thought into what goes into making a good song. We would simply write and record, without considering what direction we were going. When we really listened to some of what we were doing, we cringed, and what happened to our single gave us the time to re-assess our entire approach."

Glasper and company are working on their next album already, an LP that will reflect the more funky edge the band has evolved. "You have two or three years to get your first album together, and only two minutes to get the second one."

Given the musical acumen, style and good looks of Breathe, we predict a bright future for this accessible and energetic band.

surely didn't dare get too carried away. But I used to get carried away. And Fred would come and chew me out about it and say, 'Look at those people out there, you're leaving them.' And so we came up with the idea that when I left the melody, the Glee Club would hum it. So whenever I started out with the melody, there was no Glee Club, but as soon as I left the melody, Waring just would bring in the Glee Club singers, so that the poor soul out there who plowed on a tractor or whatever didn't get completely out.

"So I put my five years in with Fred Waring, and then I went to California. I had a choice of going any way I wished, so I went both ways. I went the commercial way, with Bing Crosby and George Burns and all those guys, and I did the jazz thing.

"When I went with Decca Records, Jack Kapp said to me, 'Les, I want you to make a Hawaiian album.' I said, 'A Hawaiian album?!?' He said, 'Yeah, you're going to make a lot of money.'

"But I wasn't going to die that easy, so I said, 'I'll tell you what I'm going to do, I'll split it down the middle with you. For every Mickey Mouse record that I make, I want to make a jazz record.' And he says, 'Okay, you've got a deal.' And I said, 'Make sure you release it.' He said, 'I'll release it, I'll release it.'

"When I saw the sales on the jazz records and what I made on the Hawaiian album... The Hawaiian album right now is making more than Chester and Lester [his Grammy-winning collaboration with Chet Atkins] or anything that Mary and I made.

"So I learned. Like working with Bing Crosby on the radio. The agency called and said, 'We want you to get the black cats off the show.' He says, 'It's the Les Paul Trio, they're not black.' 'Well they play black, so get 'em off the show.'

"Bing came to me and said, 'Can you play a little more commercial, stick closer to the melody?' I said, 'Sure, what the hell.' "

And there were other such incidents – working at New York's Paramount Theatre playing jazz and "dying! People were reading newspapers. It was bad." After the management pleaded with him for, say, "White Christmas" or something, he relented.

"So I said, 'Okay,' and I went into 'Guitar Boogie-Woogie,' and immediately we got a goddamned big, big, big hand. And it changed my whole way of thinking.

EAST COASTINGS

RULING THE STATE OF FLUX – Senators David Levine and Jeff Turner

REALLY GOOD AND REALLY OBSCURE – For just a couple of seconds towards the end of "Black Road" Senator Flux guitarist and producer Jeff Turner lets loose with slashing chords and distortion-drenched electric chatter, and I wish he'd gone on longer. It's a small moment, and it's not the point of the song, which is a semi-pychedelic stomper, or the band, which is tight, smart, and pretty fun. But I keep running my tape back to hear those five or ten seconds over and over, because it's as close as I'm going to come to the ecstatic fusion of man and electricity this week. It's amazing that Turner can toss off such moments, bury them in pop songs like the prize at the bottom of a box of Cracker Jacks and leave them there for nudniks like me to trip out over.

Senator Flux's debut LP, Shotgun For Cosmo on the Dutch Resonance label, is full of moments like that. Vocalist and lyricist David Levine calls the band "neo-post-retro," which gives you a pretty good idea of his sense of humor, since near as I can figure out, that's a label that makes fun of labels while saying nothing at all. Dodging the myth of the new, Senator Flux also dodge the lure of nostalgia. The gag is that they're inventing pysch-garage-pop and folk-rock all over again, and they do a real good job of it. From fake-country, to sixties drenched thrash, to your basic guitar strum brillance, this a great sounding, musically varied record.

Turner, who formerly played with the Washington, D.C. post-core quartet Grey Matter gets credit for the studio craft. Levine, who'll graduate from Yale shortly, gets credit for balencing his poetic skills with basic pop rhyme schemes. "Three Rings Of Ballantine (Purity, Body, Flavor)," a tour through some Dante-esque pop culture hell, could only have been written by a guy who consisders Ultra Man as great a culture hero as Virgil. The band goes into the studio to work on their second record for Resonance this summer. Anyone interested in hearing Shotgun For Cosmo should contact David Levine at (203) 785-0670.

THE NIAGARAS – Currently gigging around NYC and shopping a three song demo, The Niagaras are a quintet who play smart guitar pop. You know it's smart because they've got trumpet solos in the midst of garage chord changes, and you know it's smart because they play garage chord changes kinda light instead of grungy, and you know it's smart because Robert Whaley's vocals have a tense edginess that's just not the sound of a dump, happy guy. Island and PolyGram have expressed interest in the band. For a copy of their demo, call Whaley at (212) 627-2860 or (212) 868-1162.

IT'S FOR A GOOD CAUSE – Hall & Oates, Billy Joel, and Cyndi Lauper will play a benefit for the Police Athletic League of New York City on June 29 at Radio City Music Hall. The concert will kick off the Hall & Oates ooh yeah! world tour, and will be followed by a post-performance party at the Plaza Hotel for PAL contributors. At presstime tickets had not yet gone on sale, but 5,000 to 6,000 seats will be available to the general public, priced at $30 to $40.

OUT OF THE BLUE AND ONTO THE CHARTS – Debbie Gibson is pictured with two band members, Kirk Powers (l) and Tommy Williams (r), on the eve of the New York Music Awards at a special soiree in her honor held at Manhattan club Octagon. The next night Gibson received two awards, for Best New Artist Of The Year and Best Debut Album. This summer she goes on tour.

TASTY BITS – Tracy Chapman plays The Bitter End on Wednesday, May 4...Ohio Players update: Ohio Players lead guitarist Leroy "Sugar" Bonner co-wrote and sings lead vocals on three songs on the new Herbie Hancock album, including the new single "Vibe Alive" (Columbia)...Enigma has secured the U.S. distribution rights for Pere Ubu's The Tenament Years, recorded for Phonogram U.K. The album will be out June 22...Word is out that a film property is being developed for Mojo Nixon...Kool Moe Dee's How Ya Like Me Now (Jive/RCA) has just gone gold...Boz Scaggs collaborated with poet Jim Carroll among others for songs for his new Columbia LP Other Roads. Carroll, author of The Basketball Diaries, former herion addict, and Lou Reed protegee, had a New York radio hit with "People Who Died" in 1980...Richard Thompson is in the studio with producer Mitchell Froom working on an album for Capitol. Thompson plays guitar on the upcoming Crowded House record, Temple Of Low Men, due from Capitol in July...

THE BEAT

BAILEY BROADCASTING SPECIAL - During Black Music Month, June 1988, Cash Box will present a special in-depth feature on Lee "The Voice" Bailey, president of Bailey Broadcasting Services.

LEE BAILEY

The special will focus on Lee Bailey, successful business man, corporate executive and the man who recognized a need for a black music show in Sacramento, an immediate success, to his present status as one of the top syndicators in the business. For more information contact this writer at 213-464-8241.

CASH BOX RAP CHART - There have been many conversations regarding the state of Rap Music. It has been said, it's a passing fad. However, after many years of watching the tremendous success of a number of independent labels, we at Cash Box recognized the need for a rap music chart. After devoting many hours to research, the overwhelming opinion of retailers and radio stations, says there is a definite need for a rap music chart. Therefore, we will debut our first chart beginning with next weeks' issue.

Granted many stations around the country do not include rap music as apart of their regular format, this musical art form is one of the biggest sellers in the industry. It is and has become a constant topic of conversation with various retail outlets around the country. Independent record labels are enjoying a tremendous amount of sales success without the benefit of radio airplay. This continual growth has precipitated so much interest (sales) until virtually every major record label has ventured into the field of rap music.

For your information there is a syndicated radio program featuring rap music, available through Creative Broadcasters. Contact Glenn Ford at 212-595-0683.

MOTOWN PARTY - There has been a flurry of activity in the halls of Motown Records lately. To coincide with this activity, and the Stevie Wonder's Characters MTV special a gala party was held in Hollywood on Friday April 22, which brought out the top brass for the label. Many of the country's top program directors were also in attendance. It was exciting seeing the rejuvenated spirit in the room, particularly chairman, Berry Gordy working the room like he did during the formative days of Motown. The man is back (hands-on) in the business!

SURE HIT - Prior to the release of his subsequent #1 single Nite And Day, industry insiders were saying, "without a doubt, you got it, absolutely, positively, right on! When it comes to the music of Al B. Sure! There's no doubt about it, here's one of the most innovative, exciting and original new artists to arrive in a long time. The exclamation point at the end of his very self-confident name is no mistake. With Al B. Sure!, there's was and is a lot to get excited about.

AL B. SURE!

His future actually got underway in Boston, Al's hometown, and picked up steam when he relocated with his family to Mt. Vernon, New York. There, as a youngster, he first began writing and singing music, often working with his cousin, Kyle West, in a makeshift basement studio in Al's house. His musical ability was such that, at the tender age of ten, he was tapped by famed tunesmith Ellie Greenwich to appear as a singer in the video production of Sesame Place Park, inspired by the famed children's tv show.

A gifted athlete, he earned three high school letters in baseball and football and was offered a gridiron scholarship at the University Of Iowa. But it was the sound of music, not a stadium full of fans, that Al opted for, continuing to write and record a series of original demos until his graduation in 1986. He maintained a heavy demo schedule until he came up with the kind of product that manager Andre' Harrell was sure he could work with..first stop, Warner Bros Records and Benny Medina, who signed Al to an exclusive contract in the summer of 1987.

It wasn't long afterwards that Al entered in the Sony Innovator Talent Search, sponsored by the international electronics company and designed to discover the finest new black talent. In a blindfold test, Al was selected from a field of 51 by none other than the legendary producer Quincy Jones, making him the hottest unknown on the scene.

Meanwhile work was underway on his debut album In Effect Mode for Warner Bros. No doubt his album promises to create the same kind of sensation with the listening public that this extraordinary young artist has already had on the industry. This writer predicts that Nite And Day is only the first in a long line of #1 hit (selling) records for Al B. Sure!

DAY VISITS WNJR - WB recording artist Morris Day recently visited music station WNJR in Newark, New Jersey during a promotional tour.

TALENTED LADY PASSES - The music industry mourns the passing of Carolyn Franklin, sister of Aretha Franklin who wrote many of Aretha's biggest hits. She died after a lenghty bout with cancer. Our deepest sympathy to the family.

ON JAZZ

80! – Bill Cosby wheeled the cake on stage at N.Y.'s Town Hall during last month's WBGO-FM all-star salute to Lionel Hampton's 80th birthday.

DUKE'S PLACES – Mercer Ellington was at the Smithsonian Insitution on April 26th to formally present the museum with more than 6,000 musical documents and artifacts that belonged to his father, Duke Ellington. We're talking scrapbooks, photos, letters, scores, concert programs, taped interviews, etc. The Duke Ellington Collection will become an important part of the National Museum of American History's growing jazz collection. Three days later, on what would have been Duke's 89th birthday, Manhattan celebrated Duke Ellington Day. Borough president David Dinkins (whose son-in-law is jazz vibraphonist Jay Hoggard) made the proclamation and a big birthday party was held at the future site of the Duke Ellington Memorial (the northeast corner of Central Park).

HI-DE-HI-DE-HI-DE-HO – There's a welcome trend going on here. In the past year we've had concerts celebrating the 80th birthdays of Benny Carter, Stephane Grappelli and Liondn Hampton (see photo above). Now, not to be outdone, Cab Calloway's going to don those white tails and celebrate his 80th birthday (which was last December) with two gala nights at Carnegie Hall, May 26 & 27. Calloway will be joined by his band, such alumni as Dizzy Gillespie, Doc Cheatham, Panama Francis, Eddie Barefield and Milt Hinton, his daughter Chris, the dancing-and-singing Williams Brothers and Nicholas Brothers (yep, the Nicholas Brothers), Benny Carter, David Sanborn, and who knows who else. Now let me tell you 'bout Minnie the Moocher...

MILES ON THE GO – Miles Davis is out of the hospital and back on the road, fronting an "extravanganza of lights and sound" (that's the press release speaking). Miles'll be schlepping all this stuff to Australia and New Zealand (where he is now), Hawaii, many points on the American mainland, many points in Europe, Turkey, Tokyo, Brazil, you name it. And to think that just a few years ago, the guy wouldn't even leave his house. By the way, Miles's long-awaited double-album collaboration with Danish trumpeter (and Miles lover) Palle Mikkelborg will be out on Columbia (yes, Columbia) this fall. Or so they tell me (but I've heard this before).

THEM THERE CTI'S – Epic has just quietly put out another batch of CTI CD-only reissues. They are Stanley Turrentine's Don't Mess With Mister T, Astrud Gilberto With Stanley Turrentine*, Freddie Hubbard's Sky Dive, George Benson In Concert, Benson and Joe Farrell's well-named Benson & Farrell, Paul Desmond's Skylark, Hubert Laws's Afro-Classic, Milt Jackson's Olinga, and four compilations: CTI Masters of the Guitar, CTI Masters of the Saxophone, Classics in Jazz and Fire Into Music Volume 4, a sampler.

ADAM'S APPLE – Adam Makowicz, the Polish-born pianist who lately records for RCA Novus, is about to star in an unusual four-night concert series at the Weill Recital Hall at Carnegie Hall, May 18 - 21. The first night will feature the music of Irving Berlin, with Cecil McBee, Charlie Haden and Al Foster joining in; the second will team Adam with the Chester String Quartet, and Foster and Haden; the third will feature Benny Carter, in an evening of his own compositions (with Makowicz and Foster); and the closer will have John Blake joining Makowicz, McBee and Foster to "jam on standards."

BOPPING AROUND – Drummer Andrew Cyrille is Soviet Union-bound for a series of duets with Russian percussionist Vladimir Tarosov. They'll be beating their skins in Moscow, Leningrad, Riga and Vilnius from June 2 - 19...Columbia has just issued (on CD and cassette only) a 13-track jazz sampler called, simply enough, Perspectives: The Columbia Jazz Sampler...Soundwings has signed drummer Roland Vazquez, whose album should be in the stores as we speak...The Nanette Bearden Contemporary Dance Theatre will premiere their "Homage to Mary Lou" (Mary Lou Williams that is), during their May 26 - 29 season at NY City College's Aaron Davis Hall; they will also honor the 90th birthday of jazz bandleader Andy Kirk during their engagement...Wynton Marsalis will be releasing his next album in the summer, a live double-volume package...New York's Jazztrack series, at Greenwich Village's Greenwich House, has two more performances planned this season: Mulgrew Miller's Wingspan (May 14) and the premiere of a new work by Ntzoke Shange, "I Heard Eric Dolphy In His Eyes" (June 4 & 5).

JAZZ FEATURE PICKS

DESTINY'S SONG & THE IMAGE OF PURSUANCE – Courtney Pine – Antilles AN 8725 – Producer: Delfeayo Marsalis

A tough Coltraneish album from a tough Coltraneish young British saxophonist who, despite the hype, seems to be the real thing. Strong tenor blowing.

ANDY SHEPPARD – Antilles/New Directions 90692 – Producer: Steve Swallow

Would you believe yet another solid British post-bop saxophonist? Yessireebob! Randy Brecker shares the front line.

MAJOR CHANGES – Frank Morgan and the McCoy Tyner Trio – Contemporary C-14039 – Producer: Richard Bock

A musical lovematch. The silken bebop altoist and the mode-crunching pianist (not to mention Louis Hayes and Avery Sharpe) burn, burn, burn.

SEPTEMBER BALLADS – Mark Murphy – Milestone M-9154 – Producer: Larry Dunlap

The veteran jazz vocalist puts his unique stamp on a slate of pretty, contemporary tunes (from Chick Corea to Peter Allen to Pat Metheny).

LIVING COLORS – Dave Samuels – MCA 42144 – Producer: Jay Beckenstein

The contemporary vibesman's first solo album since he's been a member of Spyro Gyra is a refreshing, upbeat fusion affair with a distinctive Caribbean tinge.

REFLECTIONS – George Howard – MCA 42145 – Producer: George Howard

Rhythmic, easy-on-the-ears light funk/fusion from a soprano saxophonist with a proven sales and airplay record.

BROTHERS FOR LIFE – Earl Turbinton Featuring Willie Tee – Rounder 2064 – Producer: Ron Levy

Rounder's "Modern New Orleans Masters Series" makes a pit-stop in that city's active post-bop jazz scene for this meeting of two of the toughest veterans in town: brothers Turbinton (sax) and Tee (keyboards).

EVERY STEP OF THE WAY – David Benoit – GRP 1047 – Producers: Jeffrey Weber, David Benoit

Melodic, radio-bound jazz fusion from the star keyboardist/composer.

Songwriter Spotlight – Franke Previte

By Julius Robinson

LOS ANGELES – Franke Previte, veteran New Jersey singer/songwriter and recipient of this year's Academy Award for best song - "(I've Had) The Time of My Life," had a little more than a sneaking suspicion that he ought to pen a tune for the soundtrack of Dirty Dancing. "I got a call from producer Jimmy Ienner about writing a song for the movie. I was in the middle of a project and told him I really didn't have a lot of time, but I'd try to throw something together. So he says 'if you get a song in this movie it's gonna change your life.' Thanks for changing my life Jimmy Ienner!"

Along with co-writers John Denicola and Donny Markwoitz, Previte expanded on their music track, bringing structure and melody to it. The lyric came while driving with the song in the car player. "On the parkway, about exit 140, I'm singing to myself 'da-da the time of my life', and I said, 'what am I trying to say?' I started scribbling on an envelope on the seat."

Shortly after submitting the tune, Previte received a call from Kenny Ortega, Dirty Dancing's choreographer. "He said 'Franke, I want to thank-you for writing this song.' I said, 'Great, I didn't even know I had the gig!' Ortega said our song was exactly the 150th song they'd listened to, the last song on the last tape. He said they were getting ready to film the movie either to a Lionel Richie track or a click track." The song would reshape the tone of the film, obviously contributing substantially to it's overall impact.

Besides becoming a number one hit for singers Bill Medley and Jennifer Warnes, "Time Of My Life" would collect a Golden Globe and a Grammy nomination, as well as the Oscar. Previte and Denicola's collaboration "Hungry Eyes" also landed on the soundtrack and the charts.

Franke Previte spent his formative years with a variety of Jersey bands, the most well-know being Franke and The Knockouts who scored a hit with "Sweetheart". But Previte has fond memories of a band which preceded the Knockout's called Bull Angus. "We were heavy metal, Deep-Purplish band. We toured with Rod Stewart and Deep Purple in the mid-seventies. And I became a music junkie when we played in front of 300,000 people in the Poconos. We played with Humble Pie, Three Dog Night, Emerson Lake and Palmer."

Franke's talent as a singer is evident in the reaction he received to the demo's for "Time Of My Life" and "Hungry Eyes". The scenes with the songs were filmed to the demos he'd sung, creating a unique problem. "Patrick Swayze and all the cast and creative people got so used to hearing my voice, they we're calling Jimmy Ienner saying 'Franke's got to sing this!'. Jimmy said, 'You guys got demo-lock. Leave me alone.' So they ended up making Eric Carmen, Bill Medley, and Jennifer Warnes copy my licks. When I met them they looked at me like Grrr...I said 'Hi Jennifer' and she goes, 'We stole all your licks!' Not that it was any better, because they all could have come up with something great."

For the time being, Previte is doing a lot of writing for various projects and maintaining his publishing company Knockout Music. "I want to keep my publishing company going because there are a lot of great writers I know that I now can help. Also, I want to start a scholarship for some of the kids that go to my old high-school."

Previte sums up "I think you gotta give back."

Alpert

Jerry Moss. Two years later he scored his first hit record as a performer with the release of "The Lonely Bull." Since that time, Alpert has sold tens of millions of albums and singles and A&M has become the largest and most successful privately-owned record company in the industry.

In announcing his gift, Alpert said: "Through the years I have remained deeply impressed with with the USC School of Music's commitment to superb classical training and also its openness to the cutting edge of new musical frontiers." He hailed the dean of the music school, Larry Livingston, as "a true musical renaissance man and a shining inspiration to the young musical innovators of tomorrow."

The USC School of Music presents more than 400 public concerts each year by students, faculty and visiting artists. It numbers among its alumni and faculty some of the most celebrated performers in classical and popular music.

Musicland Reports Healthy First Quarter

NEW YORK – The Musicland Group, the 623-store music and video retailer that has just been sold by Primerica to a group of investors led by Donaldson, Lufkin and Jenrette and members of Musicland management, reported a net income of $2 million, or $.18 per share for the first quarter of 1988, up from $1.3 million, or $.12 per share, in the same period last year. Revenues rose 13.1 percent to $105.7 million in the quarter, from $93.5 million in the comparable period in 1987.

"But the final, final was when my mother came down to see me in Chicago. She sat in the audience and said, 'Lester, you've got to do something about it. The way you're going now, you're going into No Man's Land. If you just turned the thing around and joined Bob Wills, you'd be doing yourself a favor.' Hahaha."

That what is. Les Paul went out to California and locked himself in a garage.

"Bing Crosby said, 'What the hell are you doing in that damn garage? Come on down and play.' I said, 'Bing, I'm looking for something that will make me absolutely different from everybody else, so you can recognize me from everybody else, and trying to come up with a style that is commercial. There's no use in fighting, I'm not going to do a Stan Kenton, I'm not going to go out and educate the people.' "

Les Paul set out to entertain the people and, in the early '50s, he entertained the nation – with that unique, somewhat corny sound that he developed for himself and Mary Ford. Surreal, overdubbed vocals, whizzing, echoey guitars, a sound as pure and ingenuous as the time. And, at the same time, he began to educate a couple of generations of studio technicians and guitarists. Les Paul, who has lived in Mahwah, New Jersey for years, still spends a great deal of time in his home studio, tinkering.

"I don't know if that's the right word, tinkering," he says. "What it is is, let's say that I have a problem. And I come face-to-face with the problem and I say, 'Hey, what I want is echo.' But I don't want to build a goddamned echo chamber under the parking lot. I don't want to build it above a buidling. I don't want to build it in the basement. Massive echo. There was no digital out there, there was no analogue out there, there was nothing out there at the time. So I just said to myself, 'What I want is echo. I want it like I'm standing in the Alps going, "Hello, hello, hello, hello." So I had to invent the echo."

Simple as pie, invent the echo. Invent a great guitar, no problem. Multi-tracking? Piece of cake.

So now -- several years after a multi-bypass and years after arthritis began crippling his fingers – Les Paul is back to his first love, playing jazz guitar (and, it needs to be pointed out, commercial guitar) in a club while thinking about making another dumb record to sell to the public. He's happy with all the attention he's been getting, happy about the zillions of guitarists, from superstars to students, who still hang on his every note. A happy and gratified legend.

"I'm very honored, I really am. I'm honored about it all. Oddly enough, I'm pretty soft when it comes to a guy in a recording studio who comes up and says, 'Les, I wouldn't have my job if it wasn't for you. You're the guy who turned us all around.' I makes me very proud."

SHOP TALK

As addressed in the last issue, this week's column deals with the controversy over CD packaging - in particular problems with security and display. In addition, we queried retailers on their hottest indie product.

PEER RECORDS – Irvine, CA
Reporting: Patti Garriepy

"I have no storage or display problems with the current CD packaging, except in the cases when they put them in the box sets or in the twelve-by-twelve inch boxes. Concerning theft, the main problem comes from the cardboard boxes with the CD mounted at the bottom. I think the thing that a few of the majors have done with some of their pieces - that being, mounting them in the center - is great. The blister packs that are sometimes used are fine. I know that there was some resistance to them, but they can't get stolen - I love that. This cardboard has got to go. It would be real simple to just mount the disc three inches higher than they do now - they've already got dividers in the box. You wouldn't have to change a thing, and it would make it impossible for my thief with a razor blade to get the CD out in the matter of seconds... The longer it takes them to get it out of there - the better chance my people have of catching them. I have a full-time security person on the floor and an electronic security system as well, but they still walk out clean."

"As far as my independent product goes, Satriani (Relativity) is stronger than ever. He happened to play in the area this past weekend causing the album to just fly out of here. Salt-N-Pepa (Next Plateau) I just reordered, and I'm finding a lot of reaction on the first three Run D.M.C. albums on Profile in anticipation of their mid-May release. Rap is very hot right now."

RECORD THEATRE – Rochester, NY
Reporting: Helen Timberlake

"We don't have a problem with the CD. I like the packaging. We've had racks made specifically made for the CD's so that they fit into the bins real nicely. In some of our other stores, we use the LP bins and they work fine as well."

"It's phenomenal the way the Satriani release is selling. It's just blowing out of here. The Gamalon release (Amherst) is one of the hottest jazz albums for us right now, while the Betty Wright LP (Vision) continues to be a top seller."

TOWER – Sacramento, CA
Reporting: Caron Vikre

"To me the best immediate solution would be to have the CD's behind the counter and the boxes and booklets on display, like the old video tape idea. As it is, people just steal them constantly since our alarm system is ineffective when they cut the disc out."

"The majority of the indie product we're moving is rap and dance oriented."

BANANA'S – St. Petersburg, FL
Reporting: Gina Porter

"The cardboard packaging has caused us some problems with people taking the disc out from the bottom. The plastic snap cases seem to work a little bit better."

"We are a new and used store so we sell a lot of alternative-type independent product. We move a lot of folk, acoustic and Irish music - particularly on Flying Fish, Rounder, Shanachie, Vanguard and the Red Pajamas label.

GARY'S RECORDS – Richmond, VA
Reporting: Martin Gary

"It's been my finding that people rarely cut up the package to steal a CD; instead, they just take the whole package. With the warmer weather coming up [meaning no big coats! - ed.], we expect a decrease in thefts. My main concern is the three inch compact disc. I feel that it will be a prime target for theft. As far as the packaging goes, it appears that the covers with more graphics attract greater attention than those with less. Also, we've increased CD sales by putting the product in two spots - one in the CD area and the other next to the corresponding LP."

"Our top indie product this week is the Go Go Live At The Capital Centre release on I Hear Ya! Records, with Salt-N-Pepa and Dana Dane (Profile) still doing well. We are also moving the Ladysmith Black Mambazo (Shanachie), the A.C. Reed (Alligator) and the old George Thorogood catalog (Rounder) at a pretty steady pace."

WAXIE MAXIE – Washington, D.C.
Reporting: Phil McConnell

"Slicing the boxes happens on occasion, but less than we fear it could happen. We definitely need the long CD box to keep the thefts at a minimum. The worst situation is when you get the double and triple CD sets (the majority of which are classical), that are contained in just the jewel boxes themselves. A lot of times we will come up with a generic type of package ourselves, but that can sometimes obscure some of the release's information as well as increase the price."

"Satriani is by far our top selling indie recording."

RECORD THEATRE – Buffalo, NY
Reporting: Jim Primerano

"Cutting open the CD packages are a problem, but not a major one. I feel that one of the problems is cash buybacks for used CD's - people try to make a profit. One solution would be to make the packages out of plastic instead of cardboard, while another would be to shrink wrap the jewel boxes and use a system similar to the cassette/conveyor belt model."

"Our best selling independent releases are Nancy Kelly on Amherst - a great talent... Gamalon and Salt-N-Pepa are still doing well and we're expecting quite a demand for the upcoming Run D.M.C. release."

If there is a particular problem/issue that you would like to see discussed in this space, feel free to contact me at (213) 464-8241.

Classical Spotlight

Bach & The Instrument Of Kings

By Gary Starr

In his day, Johann Sebastian Bach was known more for his technical and improvisational skills on the organ than for his enormous compositional output. Still, he left a body of work for the organ that in itself would have assured him a place in music history. This week's Classical Spotlight explores a number of recent compact disc releases of the organ music from the great master, focusing on the variety of ways the music is performed and recorded.

Vanguard Records is in the midst of transferring a number of its recordings from the 1960's to the CD format, among them a recording made by the keyboard virtuoso Anton Heiller. Mr. Heiller's approach to Bach is in the tradition of his contemporaries E. Power Biggs and Helmut Walcha. His interpretation is straightforward and uncomplicated, in a flowing legato style - and his technique is nothing short of stunning. The current release (VCD-72014) includes a potpourri of works including the well-known Toccata and Fugue in D Minor and the Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor. These performances hold up well to scrutiny (even after twenty years), and the analog sound is impressive in the CD format.

Organist David Higgs' new recording on Delos (D/CD 3048) is remarkable for its sheer clarity and sonics, as well as for the selection of material. Mr. Higgs has chosen several lesser-known works that include a transcription of a Vivaldi concerto (BWV 593), a Trio Sonata (BWV 529) as well as several preludes and fugues. Like Heiller, David Higgs possesses a formidable technique that enables him to dash off the most difficult passages with ease. Higgs performs these works on the Rieger Organ at the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church.

Bis Records (distributed by Qualiton Imports) has completed two volumes of an ambitious ongoing Bach organ cycle (CD 235/6, CD 308/9) which features organist Hans Fagius performing on the 1728 Cahman organ at Leufsta Bruk, Sweden. Volume I contains the 18 Leipzig Chorales and the Schubler Chorales. The second volume contains a diverse collection of chorale preludes, free organ works, a Johann Ernst concerto transcription (BWV 592) and a Trio Sonata (BWV 525). Unlike the bright organ sound on the Vanguard and Delos recordings, Fagius opts for a breathier and more airy registration. His interpretation is more delicate and non-virtuosic, giving many of the works a less imposing character. This is Bach performed on a more intimate scale. The recorded digital sound is excellent and a generous booklet of liner notes is provided.

From Denon come two discs that combine qualities of the aforementioned recordings. Heinz Balli performs a familiar collection of works including the Toccata and Fugue in D Minor, the Passacaglia and the chorale prelude An Wasserflussen Babylon (33CO-1667). He combines a bright sound with alternating staccato and legato passagework on the first two works. For the chorale prelude, he uses the lighter registrations and interpretation similar to the Fagius recording. Organist Knud Vad has chosen a diverse selection of works for his recording that includes three chorale preludes, a Vivaldi concerto transcription (BWV 594), the 'Little G Minor Fugue' and the Prelude and Fugue in E Flat BWV 552 (33CO-1590). Vad's approach to these works is in the Heiller style - his sound is bright and majestic, and he possesses a virtuosic technique and broad style. Denon's CD sound, as always, is first rate.

The meeting of JEM's stockholders to consider the Asset Purchase Agreement scheduled for May 9, 1988, has been adjourned.

Surfing At The Roxy

THE ROXY, HOLLYWOOD -- In the maze of metal heroes and pop idols of our era, future generations will look back in retrospect to those select few who have revolutionized what is possible to express through music. On a mass scale, certainly Chuck Berry, Yardbird graduates Eric Clapton, Jimmy Page, and Jeff Beck, Eddie Van Halen and the legendary Jimi Hendrix are a few of the guitarists in recent history who have opened new territory for their successors. Judging from his four mind-blowing shows at the Roxy, Relativity recording sensation Joe Satriani appears to be the next explorer of the frets in that elite lineage.

The Satriani story is a remarkable one. Having spent some fifteen-plus years honing his craft and sculpting his material, he has suddenly risen to international prominence in the past few months. His first album Not of This Earth sold approximately 30,000 units, which although was considered very admirable for a somewhat eclectic instrumental rock album, was hardly regarded as a huge commercial success. So when Surfing With The Alien, his newest album on Relativity Records, was released, retailers were not exactly making room on their top forty racks next to the likes of U2, Bruce Springsteen, David Lee Roth, John Cougar Mellencamp and Whitney Houston. But they are now. Surfing has been rising steadily on the Cash Box Top 100 Pop Album Chart for twelve weeks, vaulting to #31 bullet this week. Not bad for an all instrumental rock album on an independent label; and there's no sign of the momentum stopping there.

Having just returned from a Japanese tour as Mick Jagger's hand-picked guitar player, an even greater buzz has been generated over "Satch." A fresh crop of zealous fans showed up in numbers at the Roxy, most early to assure themselves a full glimpse of artistic agility. One avid fan paid his own tribute by wearing full-length black surfing gear and covering his face with an eerie mask, prompting more than one observer to wonder if this was the alien himself. A healthy portion of the fans were undoubtedly guitarists themselves, this theory was confirmed by a show of hands between numbers.

The show opened with the composition of "Ice 9" from Surfing With The Alien. His relaxed demeanor, sizzling precision and constant textural changes immediately captured the attention of the crowd. Each tune was an original voyage with constant surprises and showed a keen sense of how to blend intense super charged electric flurries of sound with strong melodies, pregnant jazzy interludes and rhythmic flair.

The set included "Midnight," "Circles," "Lords Of Karma," "Echo" and "Always With Me Always With You" from the Surfing LP and "Memories," "Rubina" and "Hoardes Of Locusts" from Not Of This Earth. Also performed was "Crush of Love," a tune composed for the "sound page" in Guitar Player magazine.

Satriani's musical presence was so riveting, it took a powerful drum solo by Jonathan Mover, and one of the most stunning bass solo/concepts ever displayed by Stuart Hamm to notice the other two-thirds of this truest of power trios.

Hamm recently released his own solo effort for Relativity; his segment in the spotlight was a medley of familiar melodies such as the Schroeder theme song (from Charlie Brown), the Star Trek theme, a classical, a funk and a country interlude. All were primarily played with both hands tapping/hammering on the fretboard to dazzling effect.

The show ended with the AOR smash single "Satch Boogie" and an encore of the title track to Surfing With The Alien which included a section of the Weather Report classic tune "Birdland," - perhaps as a tribute to the late great innovator of bass guitar, Jaco Pastorious. Many of the tunes were augmented with new sections, intros or extended improvisation segments while others sounded direct from disc.

Overall, Joe Satriani can aptly be described as a musical magician, wielding a spectrum of sounds from his guitar like an engineer from a Fairlite. The only difference is that Satriani's engineering comes from his advanced conceptual systems and extraordinary dexterity, even during this age of superchop mania. He is not simply a wizard of technique - but a genuine artist who engenders feelings of history in the making as you watch him perform.

LADYSMITH BLACK MAMBAZO
Umthombo Wamanzi* – Shanachie (43055) – Producer: West Nkosi

There's something that's genuinely touching about Ladysmith Black Mambazo, the South African gospel group made famous in this country by their recent association with Paul Simon. On the cover of this release, the eight of them stand smiling in white, disco-era three-piece suits, the very embodiment of a grace that doesn't fit the modern world. Together they sing a brand of gospel that is equally indifferent to what is fashionable in the West.

The a cappella style that Ladysmith has perfected over twenty years is immensely popular in South Africa; when Paul Simon included the group on several cuts from his Graceland L.P., American ears were newly receptive to the sound, which hinted at doo-wop and Southern gospel while bearing a cachet of exoticism and political rectitude. But those same listeners who saw Graceland as a blow against apartheid might be surprised to find how gently apolitical Ladysmith Black Mambazo is. Their salvation is of another world, and music is the chariot that will get them there.

The "music" of Ladysmith Black Mambazo is a music of tongues, eight voices that are delicately layered and arranged. Lead singer Joseph Shabalala has a lovely, trilling voice that gently shifts from melody to harmony. He is complemented by a chorus of background singers with an impeccable sense of timing and texture. Their choral rounds create a natural rhythm within a modified call-and-response structure. There is none of the celebratory quality that is often found in black American Gospel, but rather a warmth and ease that is close to the dignified spirit of the words.

The words, in Swahili, reflect a Christian orthodoxy of suffering and salvation. Most Western listeners will have to depend on the included translations, yet the very sound of the language has a music of its own that compliments the lyric intent. The gentle linking of the words, the tongue-clicking of the Bushmen dialect and the rise and fall of the lyrical meter all suggest a kind of patient surrender to God's will.

The ritual reverence of ending every song with "Amen Alleluya Amen" makes it clear that Ladysmith is a bedrock of sincerity, indifferent to the world and its material values. Ironically, it is their purity of intent (and form) that should assure them success in America.

Rogers Named Nat'l Jazz Radio Promotion Mgr.

LOS ANGELES – It was recently announce by Fantasy Executive Vice President Phil Jones that John Rogers has been named National Jazz Radio Promotion Manager for the Fantasy label group.

"John Rogers brings an extraordinary background in many facets of the music business to this position," Jones observed. "...we are confident he'll prove to be an important resource to this company and its artists."

Since his first record retail job in Minneapolis in 1950, Rogers has worked in sales and promotion for a wide variety of distributors and independent labels, including London and, most recently, Palo Alto and Concord. For the last 25 years, he has also successfully pursued a career in jazz radio, currently holding down shifts on KJAZ and San Mateo's KCSM.

YELLOWMAN
Don't Burn It Down* – Shanachie (43049) – Producer: Black Scorpio

Yellowman is one of the most outlandish characters in all of popular music – a rappin' reggae albino who proclaims himself a love god while prancing about the stage in gaudy togs and a bowler hat. Yet he's also the most compelling vocalist to come out of Jamaica in years, an absolute marvel of lyrical invention and gymnastic delivery. His new album, Don't Burn It Down, is a triumph of toasting. The words come out in a dizzy stream, and even when its indecipherable, the reggae patois has rarely sounded so melodious. His subject matter ranges from the topical (sexually transmitted diseases, the plight of black South Africans) to the carnal ("Want a Virgin," a typically randy piece of Yellowmania.). He can speak with the voice of moral authority and outrage (as in the title cut, a spirited defense of ganja); but more often than not he uses sarcastic humor and the sheer miraculous volume of his words to disarm and convert the listener. Musically, he uses synthetic percussion and the rapid-fire rhythm of his patter to circumvent the usual constrictions of the reggae form. The album is wrought with techno trickery, but it works to the advantage of the music, giving it a welcome fullness and variety.

EDDIE BO
Check Mr. Popeye* – Rounder (2077) – Producer: Jeff Hannusch

Eddie Bo is one of those "unjustly neglected" performers that smaller record companies love to rediscover and reissue. He was a solid New Orleans R&B singer from the mid-'50s to the early-'60s, but he never had the big hit record that he deserved. He did, however, spawn a national dance craze when he recorded the title track of this compilation album, "Check Mr. Popeye," in 1962. Its easy, strolling arrangement was perfectly suited to the sailor steps that Bo concocted, and within a few weeks a legion of kids across America were dancing with one hand on their forehead and one hand behind their back. Unfortunately, they were dancing to copycat records by the likes of Chubby Checker, which followed in the wake of Bo's original. But while his career was beset by bad breaks and bad distribution, the music is indisputably fine. Bo could be sweet and soulful, but he was more inclined to swing; his "Baby I'm Wise" can be seen as the starting point in an evolutionary line that stretches through Little Richard to James Brown. The party spirit of the tunes is complemented by the meticulous arrangements, which are seasoned by sassy horns, tasty guitar licks and the occasional string section. Clearly Eddie Bo was as solid a singer, songwriter and arranger as any of the big-name R & B artists of his day. Until 1986 he could often be seen on the streets of New Orleans, strolling in a long robe and his trademark turban, passing out religious literature. Today he lives in Florida, outside of the music industry; but with the release of this album, he has reason to be proud.

SPV USA Making Noise

LOS ANGELES – From across the Atlantic comes a new force in the growing thrash metal scene: Germany's SPV Records. The label opened its American offices in Bellmore, N.Y. this past January, and this month offers the public several quality outings.

Steamhammer Records, SPV's speed/thrash division, has just released LP's by Sodom (Persecution Mania), Destruction (Mad Butcher) and Satan (Into the Future). Among the other labels that SPV will be distributing are: Blue Turtle Records, an alternative label; Armageddon, a hardcore label; and Westside, which will specialize in techno-dance releases.

The American division is being run by Joe Leonard, whose credits include stints at Arista and Combat/Relativity Records. Due to their large catalogue, SPV USA plans to have about 120 releases in the stores by the end of the year. The label will also be looking to sign new and promising American hardcore thrash talent, as well as releasing the entire Steamhammer back-catalogue. SPV USA will also be licensing product from European labels Aaarg Records and Atom Records for exclusive U.S. release under the Steamhammer umbrella.

THE YOUNG FRESH FELLOWS
Totally Lost* – Frontier (FLP 1028) – Producer: Conrad Uno

The Young Fresh Fellows and their immediate circle of friends have spearheaded a Seattle rock renaissance in the last few years. Tucked away in a green and pleasant corner of the continent, their tiny Popllama record label has been a showcase for bands who would might otherwise lose the purity of their sound and spirit in a more cynical media center such as New York or Los Angeles. "The Seattle sound" is notable for its lyrical smarts, its sense of pop history and its underlying innocence. In a word, the bands are fresh. Although the Young Fresh Fellows are now fully under the wing of Frontier Records in L.A., they've lost none of the spunk that made their Fabulous Sounds of the Pacific Northwest album one of the strongest debut records of the decade.

Totally Lost is their second effort for Frontier and it finds them moving in a harder direction than their previous L.P., The Men Who Loved Music. Like much of their work it's a stylistic stew of regurgitated rock postures that's redeemed from mere revivalism by their sure-handed instrumentation and the deadpan humor of the lyrics. Like their buddies in the Replacements and NRBQ, the Young Fresh Fellows pride themselves on adapting a variety of standard forms to fit a modern context. The acid blues of "Everything's Gonna Turn Out Great" suggests that they're not immune to the guilty pleasures of '70s rock-guitar heroics. The crystalline lilt of "No One Really Knows" has the same kind of immediate, familiar appeal as Marshall Crenshaw's "Cynical Girl," while the double-time roots-rock hoedown of "I Blew My Stack" wouldn't have been out of place on an early Stones offering. Their palette stretches from the mutated horn bop of "I'd Say That You Were Upset" to the country carousel of "Totally Lost (Theme)" to the seamless '60s jangle of "Failure," and every honorable genre in between. The whole is stitched together by the faultless production of Conrad Uno, who deftly balances an out-of-control rhythm section with the guitar gymnastics of Chuck Carroll and the wry vocals of Scott McCaughey.

All of this stylistic variety would be an empty exercise if it weren't for the wit and intelligence of McCaughey's songwriting. He continues the wayward searching theme that he introduced on the Topsy Turvy album, but this time the search seems to have ended in the bad voodoo of an awkward relationship. But whether his perspective is a drunken one ("Failure"), a self-conscious one ("Don't Look At My Face, You Might See What I Mean") or a willfully ignorant one ("I'd Say That You Were Upset"), it's always imbued with ironic humor, his wicked wordplay and a modicum of hope. When all is said and done, the Young Fresh Fellows' belief in the saving power of music and their unflappable sense of fun is the glue that holds them together and lets them continue making records as solid as this one.

SODOM
PERSECUTION MANIA – Steamhammer (SH 7000) – Producer: Harris Johns

Sodom, the hardcore combo from Germany's Ruhrvalley has successfully made the transition from a hot insider tip to international recognition - proven by the high demand for their Obsessed By Cruelty album.

The band's present line-up includes: Angel Ripper, bass and vocals; Witchunter, drums; and Backfire, the newest addition to the band, on guitar. The chemistry the band members share is quickly evident upon hearing the recording, and should instantly capture the attention of many.

Sodom combines the best of high-speed, ultra heavy metal style with their most technically advance recording to date. The band is currently preparing for various tours throughout Germany. They plan to return to the studio sometime this summer.

SATAN
INTO THE FUTURE – Steamhammer (SHE 4002) – Producer: Roy Rowland

Formed in 1982 during the "new wave" of British heavy metal, Newcastle, England's Satan is back with a new studio effort guaranteed to please even the finickiest of metal heads. After several personnel changes and a brief stint as Blind Fury, the band is now sounding stronger than ever.

Satan's current line-up consists of vocalist Michael Jackson, guitarists Russ Tippins and Steve Ramsey, bassist Graeme English and drummer Sean Taylor. Before signing with Steamhammer, the band recorded for MFN/Roadrunner Records.

The band has a proven thrash-record both in the studio and on the road. Their huge following in the Netherlands has resulted in the band calling the country their second home.

DESTRUCTION
Mad Butcher – Steamhammer (SHE 4001) – Producer: Kalle Trapp

Originally formed as a power-trio, Destruction has evolved into a quartet of top-notch headbangers. After a successful tour of their native Germany and the addition of a new drummer, the band headed into the studio to record the Mad Butcher EP. Songs include "Mad Butcher," "Reject Emotions" and a cover of The Plasmatics' "The Damned."

"Mad Butcher marks a change in the band's approach to playing music," stated vocalist and bass player Schmier. "It is an indicator of what our next album is going to sound like. Emphasis will be placed on the technical aspect and the blend of fast and not-so-fast songs, avoiding the monotonous characteristic of much of the speed available today."

AMOA Event Coming To Nashville

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE – The Amusement and Music Operators Association (AMOA) has chosen Nashville as the site of its annual board of directors meeting, one of the influential organization's most important events.

The gathering, scheduled for May 11-13 at the Opryland Hotel, will be highlighted by a gala reception celebrating the 100th anniversary of the jukebox.

About 50 of the organization's members are expected to attend the three-day meeting, which AMOA official Fred Newton described as "a very, very important function."

"Outside of our annual exhibit, this is our most important event of the year," Newton said. "The board of directors meeting is when we conduct the vast majority of our most important business, particularly the nomination of our major officers."

Newton described those attending the meeting as "the cream of the crop" of the coin operated amusement, music and vending industries.

According to the most recent statistics, AMOA members supply 130,000 of the nation's 225,000 jukeboxes with singles. Of the 46 million singles sold to jukebox operators in 1986, AMOA members purchased over 28 million.

The past two AMOA Board of Directors meetings have been held in Reno, Nevada and Hawaii, but Nashville was chosen for this year's event for "a wide variety of reasons," according to Newton.

"In Nashville of course we really liked both the location and the facilities," Newton remarked. "But obviously the incredibly strong presence of the music industry in Nashville, particularly in regards to singles, was a major factor in our decision. Those attending are representing an organization that buys an average of 28 million singles a year, and this will give them a much-needed opportunity to meet with some of the most important members of the entire music industry."

Some of the world's first jukeboxes and phonographs will be on display during the reception being held in conjunction with the upcoming gathering of the Amusement and Music Operators Association.

Charlie Hummel, the AMOA's official historian, will be placing on exhibit such items as a phonograph manufactured in 1877 and an 1895 jukebox, when they were commonly referred to as "nickel in the slot machines."

Many regarded the jukebox as the savior of the music industry in the earliest days of recorded sound, according to Hummel, whose collection has been displayed in museums across the United States and in Japan.

As the jukebox celebrates its 100th birthday this year the machines continue to evolve, with the latest advance being video jukeboxes that play music videos rather than records.

"There have been some rough times for the jukebox," Hummel admitted. "Radio really hurt in the beginning, but the jukebox bounced back because people like to listen to certain songs at certain times."

ALBUM REVIEW

DARDEM SMITH-Darden Smith-Epic, 40938

Another Texan is breaking into the country scene, following the new traditionalists Lyle Lovett and Nanci Griffith. And just like those fellow Texans, he is a moving songwriter as well as a talented singer. The ten vignettes tell stories about real people and real problems as well. Smith utilizes a variety of instrumentation and is solidly backed up by his band, The Big Guns. Lovett and Griffith provide harmony vocals. There's a live quality on the LP that seems a bit confining on vinyl, but nevertheless, it works. Hot cuts include

"Driving Rain," "Love Me Like A Soldier," and "Two Dollar Novels."

ALBUM REVIEW

MICHAEL JOHNSON-That's That-RCA, 6715-1-R

Wow! What a vocalist Michael Johnson is. He takes the material and makes it his own. One of the best interpretive singers in country music today, his style is more contemporary and it suits him just fine. On the Top 100 singles chart now with the anthem-like "I Will Whisper Your Name," (thank you to songwriter Randy VanWarmer), Johnson has much more to offer. Try out "It Must Be You," with Juice Newton singing along, "Roller Coaster," and title cut "That's That." Congratulations to Brent Maher for extraordinary production technique.

OUT OF THE BOX

KEITH WHITLEY (RCA, 6901-7-R) Don't Close Your Eyes (3:32) (Jack And Bill-ASCAP) (B. McDill) (Producers: G. Fundis, K. Whitley)

Whitley's silky vocals garnered him the Out of The Box position this week. Listeners will be opening their ears, and probably their hearts as well, once this ballad hits the airwaves. A luminous performance by Whitley with a song that so many folks will be able to identify with. Steel guitar enhances the country flavor to perfection. Whitley's production talents are presented as well on this cut, as he shares the responsibility with Garth Fundis.

Programmers, be sure and keep and eye out on this release!

FEATURE PICKS

RICKY VAN SHELTON (Columbia, 38-07798) Don't We All Have The Right (2:33) (Tree-BMI) (R. Miller) (Producer: S. Buckingham)

Ricky Van Shelton releases a waltz-like ballad for the fifth single from his now gold "Wild-Eyed Dream" album. Sweet violins and mandolins lighten the mood a bit and Ricky's voice is in fine form. This new product is certainly a continuation of hit records, which seem to be coming in rapid succession for this fast-rising Columbia artist.

REBA McENTIRE (MCA, MCA-53315) Sunday Kind Of Love (3:02) (MCA-ASCAP) (B. Belle, L. Prima, A. Leonard, S. Rhodes) (Producer: J. Bowen)

Put on your red dress, mama, Reba's back and sultry has been redefined! The strength of her vocal ability is so apparent on this teasing pleaser. Her fiery deliverence leaves nothing to the imagination. If this is any indication of what's to come on her new LP, "Reba," we've got a lot to look forward to!

DANA McVICKER (Capitol, B-44155) Rock-A-Bye Heart (3:05) (Acuff-Rose, Milene-BMI) (S. Ewing, M. White) (Producer: B. Logan)

This up-tempo song won't be putting anyone to sleep in radioland. When Dana belts out a tune, there's not a dull moment present. Producer Bud Logan brings a live quality to the mix and the band plays right along. Add a swingin' guitar solo and here's one "hit" of a record.

McCARTERS JOIN ASCAP *Warner Bros. recording group, The McCarter Sisters signed a writers agreement with ASCAP while in Treasure Isle studios finishing up their album project. INDIE SPOTLIGHT

WESTERN UNION BAND (Shawn-Del, SD-2201) Bed Of Roses (4:57) (Performing Rights Organization: Unlisted) (R. Benson, S. Gillette) (Producer: Mark Leggett)

Radio programmers might be a little leery of a five minute song these days, but not so in this case. The California-based Western Union band has things down pat when it comes to country music. "Bed Of Roses" has the sweet smell of success about it and deservingly so. This piece is a great ballad to enjoy on a lazy spring evening. This group has been named Band Of The Year twice by the California Country Music Association. The six musicians bring a varied mixture of instrumentation, (from trumpets to mandolins), to their material.

INDIE FEATURE PICKS

KEVIN PEARCE (Evergreen, EV 1074) Took It Like A Man, Cried Like A Baby (2:15) (Chappell-ASCAP, Tri/Chappell-SESAC) (T. Rocco, R. Bourke, C. Black) (Producer: J. Morris)

Pearce lets loose with a honest portrayal of men and relationships on this tune. Yes, real men do cry! The light rhythm and easy-going melody belie what he's really feeling here. A catchy hook and well-balanced production should also help get this played nationwide.

JEFFREY LEE (GBS, GBS 757) You're The Reason (2:41) (GBS-SESAC) (J. Lee) (Producer: E. Bivens)

Jeffrey Lee provides plenty of reasons to listen to this country ballad! With vocals reminiscent of the great George Jones, Jeffrey swoons the lady in question, leaving no doubts about his adoration of her. Producer Col. Ernie Bivens commands the piece with fine brilliance.

FLORIDA BILL (SunBonnet, SR 11942588) Lady On Her Own (3:01) (Sun-Bonnett-BMI) (E. Lett) (Producers: G. Gordon, E. Lett)

Florida Bill sure knows how to sing a ballad. He wrote this one from his true country soul. He tells of a woman raising children and making a living on her own. A beautiful saxophone solo punctuates the song. Add some piano and steel guitar and Florida Bill comes up a sure winner!

DARK HORSE CONSENSUS

Some of the many stations voting for Pride were: KRRV, KIXZ, WMEV, KWKH, WLFH, WWRK, WLET, and KRLW.

RAPPIN' WITH THE WRITERS:

BILLY JOE BURNETTE

Billy Joe Burnette was a 17 year old youth in Roanoke, Virginia when he wrote his first song, "Marlene," and started out as a sensation. His boss, at that time, was a cousin of Bernie Lowe, president of Cameo-Parkway records in Philadelphia. Billy Joe recorded the song and it was rated the record of the week on Dick Clark's American Bandstand.

After a tour in service, Billy Joe came out to go on as an artist on several major labels. When he came to Nashville to stay, it was 1975, and he met Dale Royal and started a co-writing team which produced "Teddy Bear," recorded by Red Sovine. That song went to #1 and sold a million copies in six weeks!

After that, his songs were recorded by many Nashville artists including Red Sovine, Jimmy Dickens, Diana Williams and Marvin Rainwater. He worked as a writer/songplugger for Cedarwood Publishing, in addition to cutting some of his own tunes.

Today, Billy Joe Burnette is president of Bear Records in Nashville. The label has charted 15 songs, in the past 18 months, under the capable direction of Billy Joe. Bear has been one of the most successful Indie labels without a big-name recording artist on the roster. In addition to wearing "many hats" in his present position, Billy Joe continues to write. He is a multi-talented man.

AROUND THE ROUTE

Let's start out this week's column by setting the record straight. The site of the March 29 meeting of AMOA, the Jukebox Promotion Committee, phonograph manufacturers, operators, record people, et al with noted jukebox historian Charlie Hummel (Cash Box, 4/16/88 and 4/23/88) was not in Wayne, New Jersey, as I originally reported, but rather the Whippany, New Jersey facilities of Rowe International! As I wipe the egg off my face, I must first apologize to the good people at Rowe and, at the same time, make mention of the fact that it was actually Rowe, through the efforts of Jerry Gordon, Joel Friedman and Michael Reinert, who initiated this gathering–without any advance fanfare! Don't be so modest hereafter, guys! At any rate, my phones have been ringing off the hook since these items made print, with calls from many of those who attended and others who didn't but who are aware of Rowe's efforts. So, take a well-deserved bow, fellas.

We wish a speedy recovery to Ron Carrara of the Betson Pacific office in San Francisco, who recently underwent surgery. From what we hear, Ron came through with flying colors and, following the normal period of recovery, he'll be back at his desk. Incidentally, Betson's San Francisco facilities recently doubled in space with the addition of 8,000 sq. ft. to further enlarge and modernize this branch...As for activity at Betson Pacific in Los Angeles, John Lotz tells us they're experiencing a significant pick-up in business on the Rowe CD/combo unit, and a resurgence of interest in the Rowe Video Jukebox. "Operators are starting to realize the importance of merchandising their music equipment," he told us, "and the advantages of 'innovation', which gives customers something a little different and operators the means for increasing their earnings." John couldn't rave enough about Williams' new "Cyclone" pin, which he referred to as the "highest-earning pin we've ever had–including 'High Speed'!" And he also singled out Date East's "Secret Service" as another major contributor to the fast-improving pin market!

With the recent formation by Rowe of the new Rowe Music Group, which is geared to place more emphasis on the factory's involvement in the jukebox and music industry, veepee Joel Friedman has been named vice president of the Music Group. He'll continue in his present post as well. Congratulations, Joel!...Look for Rowe to introduce its dedicated compact disc jukebox at this year's AMOA convention in Chicago...Michael Reinert, meanwhile, has been working very closely with AMOA and the Jukebox Promotion Committee on final arrangements for the big President's Reception, coming up May 11 in Nashville (Cash Box, 4/9/88).

The Amusement and Music Operators of Virginia state organization sends word that its 30th annual convention and trade show has been scheduled for August 5 and 6 at the Ramada Oceanside Tower in Virginia Beach, Virginia.

Bob Fay Is Named Exec VP Of AAMA

CHICAGO – Frank Ballouz, president of the American Amusement Machine Association, announced that Robert C. Fay has been named executive vice president of the American Amusement Machine Association, effective April 15, 1988. A former FBI agent, Fay has served as director of industry affairs and enforcement for AAMA since April 1986.

In announcing Fay's promotion Ballouz stated, "Bob knows the industry and its needs. I believe he has a firm grasp on what is necessary to make this a stronger, more unified industry and will work and support all sections – manufacturers, distributors and operators." Ballouz added that "Bob has strong leadership credentials. He has worked in many facets of public relations prior to joining the FBI."

Ballouz emphasized that the promotion of Fay should not be construed as a reduction in AAMA's enforcement commitment. "Bob will continue to supervise our enforcement efforts and will still be responsible for Korea and Canada," he explained. "However, everyday investigations in the United States will be conducted by other AAMA investigators, who will report to a director of investigations, to be named shortly."

Before joining the association, Fay was employed by the FBI for twenty years and was the white-collar crime supervisor for the FBI in Atlanta when he left the Bureau. He designed and headed AAMA's highly successful enforcement program, which has been instrumental in helping to return the video game market to the legitimate manufacturers and distributors in the United States. Fay has also been in charge of the public relations effort, including the Location Trade Show program.

In commenting on his new position Fay stated, "We plan to put the emphasis on promoting the coin-operated amusement game industry." His plans include expanded promotions of location trade shows, increasing the number of "Games For Fun and Profit" seminars; and working with national charity groups to promote the industry. "I hope that by establishing a nationwide public relations program we can show the public how great the coin-operated amusement industry really is," he added.

A native of New York City, Fay is a graduate of Rutgers University. He and his wife, Mary Beth, have been married 17 years and have one son, Gavin, who is fifteen. The Fays currently make their home in Springfield, Virginia.

SNK's 'Lee Trevino's Fighting Golf'

CHICAGO – "Lee Trevino's Fighting Golf," recently introduced by SNK Corporation of America, is available as a low-priced horizontal conversion kit; and the same kit can be used as a conversion for any horizontal cocktail table as well. This one- or two-player game includes the unique feature of two distinct styles of game play, selectable by dipswitch setting so that operators can decide which version of play they want for each location.

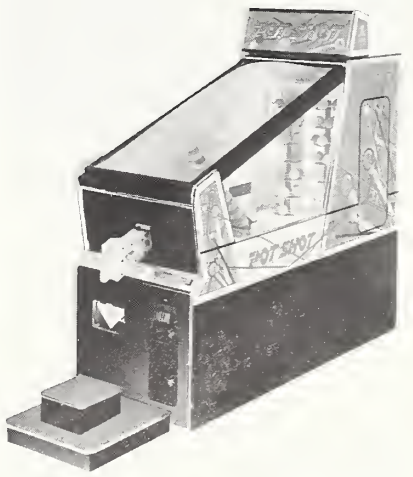
Fighting golf authentically portrays the popular sport with such features as Regular stroke or Nassau Game; Longest Drive Contest and Closest to the Pin Contest. And to make it more exciting, players can choose one out of four golfers (one of them being Lee Trevino) for the match. Incidentally, Lee Trevino's picture adorns the cabinet.

Each kit includes full graphics, PCB and harness, buttons, joystick and decals.

Further information may be obtained through factory distributors or by contacting SNK Corporation of America at 246 Sobrante Way, Sunnyvale, CA 94086.

Atari's 'Pot Shot'

CHICAGO – Atari Games Corporation is expanding their product line with a unique amusement concept, combining a fast-paced gun with prize merchandising. "Pot Shot" is the name of the new piece and it features a Gatling-gun control mounted at the front of a fully-enclosed cabinet. At the rear of the cabinet are three rotating carousels, each one displaying an enticing assortment of targets. These targets are actually prizes which players can shoot to win, and up to 105 prizes can be displayed at one time.



As the game starts, over 100 steel balls load into the Gatling-gun. Players aim at the prize they want to win, the recommended strategy being to crank the gun as fast as possible to get a steady stream of firepower. A skillful aim will make the prize pop out of its slot and then roll to the bin at the front of the cabinet.

The prizes fit into discs which come in two sizes to accommodate a variety of merchandise. Each disc holds five prizes and there are seven discs in each carousel. The deeper the prize sits in the disc, the harder it is to shoot out of its slot.

The Pot Shot cabinet features a clear acrylic dome for easy viewing, safety and durability. Spectators can enjoy the action from see-through side panels. Flashing lights, music and colorful graphics provide strong attraction features and there's a two-step platform that allows youngsters to play on their own.

The game is designed for easy maintenance and payout adjustment. The prize carousels and gun loading device are each driven by a low-maintenance AC motor. To adjust the win frequency, operators simply raise or lower the height of the disc by using spacers provided with each game. Prizes can be easily

Rowe International Names Joel Friedman Vice President – Music Group

CHICAGO – Joel Friedman has been named Vice President-Music Group at Rowe International, Inc. "I am pleased to announce Joel Friedman's expanded assignment, which encompasses all Rowe jukeboxes including the forthcoming introduction of our dedicated CD jukebox," stated Jerry Hejtmanek, Rowe's senior vice president of marketing.

Mr. Friedman has been with Rowe since 1984, most recently heading up the introduction and sales of the Rowe Video Jukebox, nostalgia jukeboxes and Customusic systems. He has been involved with the company's corporate ownership since 1974.

"The upcoming 100th anniversary of the jukebox is an exciting time for Rowe and our entire industry," Friedman pointed out. "We're witnessing a resurgence of public interest in the jukebox."

He also added that the Rowe family of music now includes standard jukeboxes, 45 rpm/CD combo jukeboxes, video jukeboxes, nostalgia jukeboxes, wallboxes and Customusic systems for background or foreground music. Later this year, Rowe will introduce its dedicated CD jukebox.

The Rowe Music Team will include veteran Ted Lloyd, who is sales manager-jukeboxes; Michael Reinert, director of video operations; and Beverly LaForte, sales manager-Customusic; as well as Rowe's network of distributors headed by Jerry Gordon, president-distributor operations.

AAMA Endorses Berne Convention Implementation Act

CHICAGO – The American Amusement Machine Association has endorsed pending changes in U.S. copyright law that would permit the U.S. to join the Berne Convention while preserving the compulsory jukebox license.

Frank Ballouz, president of AAMA, stated that the manufacturers and distributors of coin-operated amusement equipment, including jukeboxes, were delighted to also endorse the Berne Convention Implementation Act of 1988 and to support the efforts made by the Amusement & Music Operators Association in this area. Ballouz added that the manufacturers of coin-operated equipment are sensitive to the needs and wishes of the members of the AMOA and stated that he is happy to be able to support the outstanding efforts, during the last year, accomplished by AMOA regarding the Berne Convention. He particularly praised the efforts of former AMOA president Richard Hawkins and current president Wally Bohrer, who testified on February 9, 1988, before the U.S. House Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties and the Administration of Justice on the Berne Convention (Cash Box, 3/19/88).

Ballouz stressed that if the coin-operated amusement industry is to be a strong industry, all facets must join together to support legislation that benefits all sections of the industry – manufacturers, distributors and operators.

BLACKWATER 100 MEETS THE PRESS – Bally Midway's exciting, new "Blackwater 100" pinball machine, which is based on the annual moto-cross race of the same name, was officially introduced to the moto-cross industry on April 7. The event was a specially called press conference, hosted by U.S. Suzuki Motor Corporation at Reuben E. Lee's Paddleboat Restaurant & Lounge in Newport Beach, Calif., during which members of the moto-cross trade press were able to try their hands at the game and also compete in a pinball tournament. All of the action was captured on tape by the MotoWorld camera crew for a June feature spot to be aired on the Nashville Cable Network. Representing Bally at the conference were game designer Dennis Nordman and advertising manager Laura Rezek, who were on hand to answer questions and demonstrate the unique features of the game. As Rezek reported, the response was "exciting." She said that many of the editors and reporters present were former Blackwater 100 racers themselves and were very enthusiastic about the authenticity and playability of the game. Joe Colombero, Suzuki's press relations; and Dave Coombs, promoter for the Blackwater 100 race, also presided over the presentation. Pictured in the accompanying photos are :(photo 1) Dave Coombs introducing Dennis Nordman to members of the press; (photo 2) Nordman being interviewed by the MotoWorld camermen; (photo 3) Suzuki's Joe Colombero awarding tournament champ Joe Kosch of Dirt Bike magazine his grand prize; and (photo 4) Dennis Nordman reviewing some of the unique features of Blackwater 100 for the press people.

loaded into the game by the side access door on either side of the cabinet.

Atari encourages operators to try a variety of merchandise or redemption options. Prizes can be used as redemption markers to allow long-term flexibility. Operators can purchase an optional redemption display unit which fits on top of the game and can show the redeemed value of each prize. As noted by Mary Fujihara, Atari's marketing director, "Pot Shot was designed to capitalize on the popularity of redemption games while adding a real skill-oriented and entertaining task. We have found that every player gets a lot of enjoyment from playing the game because the fast-paced shooting action is fun in itself, regardless if they win a prize," she continued. "That is one of the reasons it seems to appeal to a wide-range audience."

Pot Shot will be available beginning in May, through authorized Atari Games distributors.
